Mr. Scott of Erie, Pa, who is at the head of the class of financial men the she head of the class of financial men the exact opposite of Mr. Bland, said he was opposed to Mr. Manning's proposition. He thought that the most dangerous step taken by congress for some time was the authorization last year of the issuing of silver certificates of sm li denominations. The retirement of greenbacks and the issuing of silver certificates in their place would simply hasten our getting on to a silver basis and the climination of gold as a standard from the country. Mr. Man. standard from the country. Mr. Man-ning's principle of substitution, however, relating to tariff reduction fits in very well with the Hewlitt administration bill. Mr. Mauning's proposition to take the tariff off of raw materials and to have free wool would suit mr. Hewitt very well. The latter believes in free wool although that is not in his bill. In the main Mr. Manning's suggestion concerning the tariff will meet with approval in the house. It is considered strange that the president did not himself take a more pronounced stand upon the subject and go beyond mere formal phrases.

A SKULL AND CROSS BONES.

A Telegraph Operator Warned to Leave or stand the Consequences. Special to the Gazette.

HARROLD, TEX, Dec. 8 .- Mr. T. M. Brown, the agent and telegraph operator of the Fort Worth & Denver City rallway at Burk station, lifteen miles south of here, upon opening his office door this morning found a note headed "Warning," with a skuil and cross bones drawn over the word warning. The following is a copy: "To Brown: You had better leeve these parts insider fortey ate ours or stand the consequences. Take heede Last warning. (Signed) Wife and Wooder's

Mr. Brown says he cannot account for th's mysterious note as he always treated every one cleverly with whom he has had business transactions. We don't think there is any scare about Mr. Brown, as he is going to remain there.

A telegram from Wichita Falls says Mr. Brown to-day ordered a six-shooter and several rounds of cartridges from that place, which were sent him. or, Brown is evidently uneasy and it is thought not unnecessarily, as he is in a thirty settled part of the country, with houses few and far between. From parties just from there it is learned that Mr Brown intenda to give the parties a warm reception if any violence is attempted, for in addition to the revolver sent from Wichita Fails he received one from Harrold, and also a shot gun in good trim.

Scribs, the Welf-Known Bank Examiner Told to Go.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 .- The Times announces that A. M. Scriba, a well-known official and national bank examiner, has been requested to resign his position by William L. Trenholm, comptroller of currency. The Times says the circumstances under which this request or demand is made are of a kind to make the case seem in serious conflict with the principles of reformed or even proper civil service. Mr. Scriba has been in the employment of the public service for fourteen years. On Mr. Scriba a letter asking the latter to resign his position. He found no fault with the manner in which the examiner had been attending to his duties.
